DANIELLA LEVINE CAVA

MAYOR
MIAMI-DADE COUNTY

August 22, 2023

Dear friends,

As Mayor of Miami-Dade County and on behalf our nearly 3 million residents, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the 12th edition of The Water Expo and the 5th edition of The Energy Expo! We proudly welcome more than 150 exhibitors, 80 educational sessions, and 2,000 delegates from 40 countries across Latin America, the Caribbean, and the U.S to advance water and energy solutions.

As mayor of a county nestled between two watery national parks, Biscayne Bay and the Everglades, I am deeply passionate about the protection of our clean water. The Everglades is a precious World Heritage Site and the main source of drinking water for our community, and Biscayne Bay is a hub for water recreation, home to many species of plants and animals, and the blue heart of our community. Miami-Dade County continues to make multi-billion-dollar investments to improve our water and sewer infrastructure so that future generations can enjoy high-quality drinking water and reliable wastewater disposal services, while protecting our natural resources.

My administration launched an aggressive Climate Action Strategy that sets a goal to cut carbon emissions by 50% by 2030. We also joined the International "Race to Zero" to reach net-zero by 2050. Our County has committed to achieving 30% renewable energy within the next 8 years and we are aggressively going solar on county property. Innovation in green technology is happening every day in Miami-Dade – and we look forward to helping environmentally-minded businesses grow right here in our county.

Since my days as a County Commissioner and now as County Mayor, I have been proud to support the Water and Energy Expos – from participating as a panelist to working to advance water conservation and energy innovation from county hall. I wish all organizers, participants, and attendees great success, and I'm looking forward to welcoming you back next year!

Yours in service,
